CHELSEA

Sheriff Hammon T. Baldwin of Wells River was in town on official business Wednesday and Thursday.

Miss Marion Lord has arrived from California, being called here to minister to her sister, Mrs. Noah Taylor, who is critically ill.

Ed Lincoln of Dighton, Mass., is spending the week in this and the outlying towns, buying cows to ship to the Massachusetts markets.

Mrs. Charles H. Corwin, who has been in town for several days, as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Corwin, has returned to her home in Somerville, Mass.

Since the destruction of the Noble elder mill in Tunbridge by fire, Eugene H. Kennedy is receiving hundreds of bushels of cider apples from the Tunbridge farmers.

Miss Emma W. Hatch, who has been serving as a supply teacher in the graded school at Williamstown village, finished her work there last week and returned home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Sanger, who have been spending two weeks at the home of their daughter, Mrs. George A. Tracy, left Thursday morning for their home in Plattsburg, N. Y.

Ben A. Goodrich, who has been slowly recovering from a serious illness with pneumonia, has so far recovered as to be able to be out of doors and go to the river station of which he is proprietor.

Mrs. F. C. Snyder, who lives near the Vershire heights, has recently entertained at her guest her uncle, John Swinney, a younger brother of the late David Swinney, and his wife, from the Adirondacks, N. Y.

Jedediah Scott of Scottsboro, P. O., who was called here early in the week by the death of his brother-in-law, B. H. Adams, is stopping in town for a few days and is the guest of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Kate Griffin, and family.

There will be a promenade at the town hall Thanksgiving evening, under the auspices of the members of H. E. K. Hall camp, No. 28, Sons of Veterans. It has been several weeks since there has been a social function of this kind held in town, and there should be a good attendance.

Frank Kelley of Rutland, who spent most of his time in Orange county jail last winter, has put in his appearance again this season, in time to make a selection of the newly provided cells, and arrange for his winter's sojourn, having been "sent up" by Justice Homer W. Vall of Randolph for one hundred and seventeen days for "furnishing." The commitment was made by Deputy Sheriff D. D. Howe of Randolph.

Norman C. Burbank, who, with his family, has spent several months in town as the guests of his parents and brothers, left Wednesday for his home in Verona, Cal., where Mr. Burbank has a ranch. Previous to his departure, he shipped his well known stallion, General Kruger, which he will use for stock purposes on his ranch, and thus introduced a splendid strain of the Vermont Morgan into that section of the Pacific slope. Edward H. Burbank has charge of Kruger in his transcontinental trip and will spend a greater portion of the winter in California, and if he likes the country, he may decide to locate there permanently.

When Her Back Aches

A Woman Finds All Her Energy and Ambition Slipping Away.

Barre women know how the aches and pains that come when the kidneys fail make life a burden. Backache, hip pains, headaches, dizzy spells, distressing urinary troubles, all tell of sick kidneys and warn you of the stealthy approach of diabetes, dropsy and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills permanently cure all these disorders. Here's proof of it in a Barre woman's words:

"Mrs. Frank Jones, 106 South Main street, Barre, Vt., says: 'About five years ago, when living in Worcester, I began to suffer from kidney trouble and had such terrible pains in my back at times that I could hardly get about. If I arose too quickly after sleeping, sharp twinges darted through my hips and I often had severe attacks of dizziness. At night, it was impossible for me to sleep well, and during the day I was tired and worn out. Being advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I did so, although I had not much faith in their merit. After using them a few days, I found that they were helping me and I continued taking them until the pains in my back had entirely disappeared. The other symptoms of my trouble were also greatly relieved and I felt better in every way.'"

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McLure Co., Buffalo, New York. Sole agents for the United States.

State Deputy A. C. Palmer of Burlington, State Lecturer Benjamin Gates of Montpelier and District Deputy L. T. Kelly gave an interesting talk on the Modern Woodmen at opera house Tuesday evening. C. J. Bailey presided at the meeting and introduced the speakers.

WILLIAMSTOWN

Successful District Meeting of Good Templars.

District lodge, No. 8, met with Williamstown Good Templars Wednesday afternoon at 2:30, with delegates present from Washington, Barre, Montpelier and Bethel. The district degree was worked on several candidates and other business was transacted, after which a chicken picnic supper was served. In the evening, a public meeting was held, which was very well attended, about 120 being present. A literary program was enjoyed and a social hour.

Our former townsman, Mr. Clark P. Hubbard, now of Wells River, is to pass the winter here, with Miss Ann Eliza Penman.

Mr. George Marr left Thursday for Oil City, Pa., where she will spend several weeks with her sister, Mrs. Dr. Henry Downs.

M. B. Beaman and son of Fairfax are carrying potatoes at our railroad station and paying forty cents per bushel. They will probably ship four or five loads from here.

While work comes to our watchmaker, Will O. Martin, from Barre, Northfield, Brookfield, Randolph and Chelsea, we shall argue that his skill as a workman plays an important part in the matter.

On account of the reopening service of the Methodist church the coming Sunday, the Congregational church will be opened for Sunday school only. The men's baraca class has reorganized and will meet Sunday noon.

GRANITEVILLE.

The regular meeting of Summit lodge, No. 397, N. E. O. P., will be held in Miles' hall Tuesday evening, Nov. 16, at 7:30 sharp. Let every member be present, as important business is to be transacted. The ladies of the degree team are asked to be on hand for practice.

A Happy Idea.

Blankson's medical man had told him that it would be necessary to consult a specialist, but Blankson's soul was filled with gloom at the prospect of parting with the fee. "What do you think he'll charge me?" he asked. "Five guineas for the first visit and one guinea for every subsequent one," was the reply. Subsequently a happy idea by which he might avoid the expense of the initial five guineas struck Blankson. Dashing into the specialist's consulting room, he exclaimed breathlessly, as he held out his hand, "Well, doctor here we are again!"—London Daily News.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

"The Man and the Mummy" Next Monday Evening.

For several seasons, managers and theatre-goers have been inquiring and demanding attractions where music, comedy, dances and pretty girls were the dominant features. In presenting Phil Ott and his comedians, we are providing the brightest and best musical comedy successes of the season. One of these, "The Man and the Mummy," is described as a Spanish-American melange, the action of which is laid in Montezuma, Mexico. It deals with situations where comedians, panderers, grandees, scoundrels and scoundrel play important parts.

There isn't a great deal of plot to the piece, but there is a whole lot of fun, and the man or woman who could sit through it all without laughing until tears stream down his or her cheeks must be a rare specimen. The action of the plot has to do with a mummy that comes to light and creates no end of trouble, because she is so beautiful that everyone—that is to say every male one—immediately falls in love with her. The game of cross purposes is well played, and as a result everyone is soon hopelessly tangled up.

Intermingled with the comedy is a whole lot of really catchy music and lots of first class specialties, so that there is plenty of variety to the entertainment. Some of the best songs are, "I Was a Hero, Tom," "Nobody Loves a Fat Man," "Cubanola Glide," and others. The principal comedy role, Felix Dink, is played by that always funny comedian, Phil Ott. It is needless to say that his work is clean cut and right up to the moment. Blanche Parquette, as the mummy who comes to life, looks handsome and sings in splendid voice. Others in the big company are Ben Loring, Flora Cushing, Al Steadman, Fannie Steadman, Nellie Ott and a competent chorus of pretty girls. At the opera house, Monday, Nov. 15.

COMING TO VERMONT.

Two Large Corporations File Papers to do Business Here.

A new corporation was filed yesterday with Secretary of State Guy W. Bailey. The corporation is really an old one, but new to this state. It is known as the Vermont Lumber Supply Co., and was organized a number of years ago under the laws of the state of Delaware. The application for the privilege of doing business in this state came from J. E. Cushman, commissioner of state taxes at Burlington. The business of the company is principally lumber, but it is also engaged in developing all the by-products, even utilizing the water power on their forest lands for the generation of electricity. The principal location of the concern in this state will be in Rutland, and Thomas W. Moloney will be its representative there. The corporation will start in at once doing business and they already have a lease on a large tract of forest land, which they will cut over and place the timber on the market. It does its chief business at Wilkesbarre, Pa., where it is engaged in the coal mining industry.

Another new corporation filed papers Friday, the firm of James Cunningham, Son & Co., of Rochester, N. Y., formed with a capital stock of $1,200,000, for the purpose of selling all kinds of vehicles. The company will establish Vermont offices at Burlington in the charge of Max L. Powell.

The large amount of business in corporations which has been done in the last few months in this state, indicates that business conditions are by no means discouraging.

DEATH OF NORTHFIELD WOMAN.
Mrs. James Buzzell Had Been Ill For Five Weeks.

Northfield, Nov. 13.—Mrs. James Buzzell died yesterday afternoon following an illness of five weeks with emphysema, sometimes called consumption. She is survived by a husband and a son and daughter. Funeral services will be held at the home Sunday afternoon, followed by interment in Elmwood. Mrs. Buzzell had been identified with the Methodist Episcopal church for many years and had a large circle of friends.

The Caddie's Advice.

The caddie followed him around the course silently, solemnly, but not unobservant. Their wake behind was marked by scars and gashes in the turf. At length he ventured on a tentative remark. "Ye'll be a stranger to these parts maybe?"

"Well, not exactly a stranger," Whirr-whirr-whirr! And one more gash appeared as a lump of turf soiled aloft and came down fifty yards away. "You see," the golfer concluded, "I was born here, but I have been away many years now. All my folks are buried hereabouts."

"I don't ye'll no go deep ene' with your driver," remarked the caddie, "ye'd better tak' your iron."—Liverpool Post.

THE PRINCESS' STEAMSHIP LINE.

One of Denmark's Royal Highnesses a Marine Expert.

Several royal ladies have had the honorary title to "admiral" conferred upon them, and are privileged to wear a uniform denoting their rank. Princess Waldemar of Denmark is one of them, but she is the only lady in the world who could take full command of a battleship. This daughter-in-law of the Royal House of Denmark has an extraordinary passion for the sea, and can manage anything that floats, from a sailing-yawl to a Dreadnought.

Her Royal Highness has actually organized and controls one of the biggest shipping companies in Denmark. She is so proud of her accomplishment in nautical matters that she has had a large anchor tattooed on her arm, to remind her friends of her connection with the Danish navy. The anchor is plainly seen when she appears in evening dress.

Possibly her fascination for the sea is due to the fact that her husband, Prince Waldemar, is commander of the Danish navy, while her son is attending the naval academy in order to fit himself for a career afloat. She has assisted them in their studies, and in so doing has made herself conversant in the whole art of navigation, and desired to see her own country taking a more prominent part in the world's shipping industry.

Denmark is quite a small country and does not require a large fleet. So this patriotic woman made up her mind to devote her attention to building up the nation's merchant marine. Using the influence of the royal circle, she enlisted great financiers, bankers, business men and those prominent in shipping circles. These kings of industry instructed her in the methods of forming a stock company and of securing capital, besides giving her advice on the starting and maintaining of a gigantic steamship line.

As soon as the plans were completed she started the business world a few years ago by publishing the prospectus of a company to operate a line of steamers between Scandinavia and various ports in the Far East.

The company was successfully launched, and soon became a prosperous concern. Branches have sprung up all over Europe, the headquarters being in the capital of Denmark. Every morning her royal highness is present in her private office, and, with the assistance of a staff of shipping experts, controls one of the most important steamship lines in the world.—London Tid-Bits.
